Absolute Appeal

Apple Day 2001: The Carnival, Mixer, Friends, and Fun

Apple Day, a day of freedom and fun. A day where a carnival is found in place of classes and professors. A day where, while eating in Hunt one can find bits of apple in every bite. Apple Day, a day where sophomores rule.

Every year the sophomore class comes together and creates Apple Day. Apple Day is a nice day off from classes in the fall that provides the students a break from everything else that happens on campus. This year, the theme of Apple Day was Absolute Appeal. The carnival had such attractions as a rock wall, laser tag, apple shooters and a few other carnival attractions.

Following the carnival was the traditional Apple Day mixer. This year the mixer was... a little different. To get into the mixer one had to wear a toga. This unique provision allowed the students to break away from the usual and show off their Greek and Roman side. Wearing togas also provided many individuals a good laugh and a chance to use their creative skills.

Ellen Michals demonstrates her "appealing" ability of face-painting. Dorthy Colby stands in as the model, or is it more like victim?

I thought Apple Day was tons of fun. The class of 2004 has a lot to live up to!!!

Ayesha Muhammad

"We had a really good turnout for Apple Day this year. There were some great events and carnival workers. We also had a wonderful turnout for the toga mixer".
Katie Macola
Sophomore Class Vice President

Apple Day brought out the kid in me!!!

Lizzie Voglebach

I thought the 2003 sophomore class officers did a fantastic job; it was the best Apple Day. Now the junior class officers have big shoes to fill for Junior Dads.
Meghan O'Reilly

These sophomores enjoy a moments rest after a day of activities and fun. Way to go ladies.

Erin Cunningham, sophomore president, Diane Alfrod, Lizzie Vogelbach, Brenna Zortman, and Julie Schmidt take a break from the games to make sure everything is running smoothly.

"T-Shirts, hats, come on girls, we know you want them". Miranda Kelly and Sarah George do their part by helping with one of the fund-raisers at the carnival.

"On three, we drop it". Jo Casto, Erin Cunningham, Katie Macola, Jenn Sparks, and Becky Clemens plant the traditional Apple Day tree above the soccer field.

Courtney Leard follows the tradition of having her parents come down for Parent's Weekend.

In the celebration of Founder's Day, senior Keli Diewald is adorned in her cap and gown.

Sondra Spann was a lucky freshman. Her entire family came up to visit and catch up on what life has been like over throughout the first month as a college Freshman.

Parent's Day

Time to Make Mom and Dad Proud

So, you like the food? Stephanie Smith and company are enjoying the Parent's Day brunch. The dining hall created a special meal for both students and parents.

What happens on Parent's Day? Many people recognize that it is a weekend where parents come from many numerous destinations to visit with their college daughter. Many people also know that these visits may be rare and that they should take advantage of the opportunity of having mom and dad up to see their dorm room the one time it is clean. But what else happens?

Few people realize that Parent's Day is more than a day but a weekend event. On Parent's Weekend there is an honor's recognition ceremony. Bailey and Honor Students are recognized for their achievements.

There is a brunch that parents have the opportunity of attending with their daughter. They get the chance to taste college dinning hall food once again. Many parents love the idea of eating in a college dinning hall because it takes them back to their old college days.

The best part of Parent's Weekend is the opportunity the weekend provides; parents have a chance to spend time with their daughter.

"Founders weekend allotted me time to reflect on the heritage and many traditions that Mary Baldwin College carries with it".

Julie Schmidt
2003

"It was exciting seeing the sweeping vista of mountains and spending the weekend with our daughter.

Bob Bliss
2002

"Enjoying the weekend with friends and family is always great. It gives us time to appreciate Mary Baldwin College for its many qualities.

Amy Nusbaum
2002

"I believe Parent's Day is a wonderful tradition that Mary Baldwin possesses! Without Parent's Day Mary Baldwin would miss out on the camaraderie between students, their families, and the school.

Katie Macola

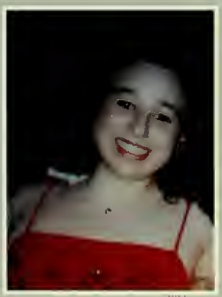
Junior Dads

Class of 2002: In Your Eyes

Rings were ordered in March of the previous year for our event, Junior Dad's. We've waited our freshman and sophomore years for this time, and the anticipation has grown in the past three months. We all moan and groan through the practice, just wishing the event would be here. The Parade in honor of the Junior's was a success, with the Barbecue afterwards, with the sideshow. We all wonder what everyone else will wear, whose families are coming, where the afterparties are. But all these questions die as soon as you walk into the Reception, Dinner, and finally the Dance and see the effort that the members of the Class of 2002 have put into this night. Dancing to this year's theme song- In Your Eyes- with your Dad, Mom, or date, this night is full of uninhibited joy. Pictures are taken all night long and feet are sore from all the dancing, but it's a night to remember!

True Beauty Meredith Timberlake, Lindsay Morris, Katy Meyer, Kerry Bleckfeld, and Kelly Wimmer dazzle and sparkle for the camera on this special night.



A beautiful vixen in red, Alexandra Rubio smiles bright for the camera. Dancing the night away on the floor, Rubio had a wonderful time!

Pretty in Purple: Malissa deWindt dazzles at Junior Dad's, enjoying the time with family and friends.

Looking and feeling like a princess, Beth Chapman is all smiles. Between Dad, Cliff, and the Ring....who wouldn't be smiling?

Smiling bright, Elise LaSota looks to be enjoying the evening. After waiting so long, it looks like the wait paid off and a blast was had.

This is what Junior Dad's is all about. Katy Meyer and Dad sharing a hug and a smile.

Grinning large! Amy Nusbaum, Erin Welch, Lisa Bliss, and Jennelle Livesay show off smiles and styles at Junior Dad's. No two dresses looked alike on this night.

These girls are posing to show off their dresses are Niani Vines, Cambria Watson, Lorany Vasquez, Jessica Gonzalez, Sheyma Bautista, Linda Cortez, Lynnette Daughtry, and Andrea Cornett-Scott.

Lucky in Love....with their Limo. Going Hollywood style are Jennifer West, Anna Henley, Julie Haislip, and Megan Ailstock.

Angie Roth demonstrates to her RAs how not to handle problems on their halls during the RA training week. Are you taking notes?

"Now, we're supposed to do what...go down the river?" This RA is ready for a day of adventure and WATER.

The wonderful Resident Advisors here at MBC took a little river trip down the James to get acquainted and comfortable with each other; now that's real bonding.

Saving Souls

When Disaster Looms...RAs to the Rescue

Come on, it's only a little river. It is nothing compared to what he year will be like". Canoeing is one of the first of many challenges that the RAs are going to face; you better get eady.

What happens when you and your roommate have an argument that divides more than side? What do you do when you just want to go home but have class at 8:00 the next morning and the drive is five hours?

Most students turn to their RAs. Each freshman hall and each upperclassman dorm has a RA. RAs are student leaders who take on the extra responsibility of dealing with problem that occur in dorms.

Most students, throughout their four years here will have some argument or some problem and will turn to her RA for help.

Each RA is trained to deal with conflicts. Each RA attempts to ease tension and situations that pop up between roommates who have conflicting personalities and habits.

Many of the RAs are open people who love helping others with their problems. RAs are the first people freshmen meet when they move into their dorm and the RAs never fail to provide each freshman with a positive beginning.

Thanks to all the RAs who make each students living situation bearable.

Canoeing down the James River! RAs A'leigh Spensieri and Katrina Onusko were loving it! Can't you tell?

Signature Ball

Behind the Silver Screen

This years theme for Signature Ball 2001 was, "Behind the Silver Screen". Mary Baldwin College's, Baldwin Program Board decorated the formal ball with candle light surrounded by a dimly light background city. Of course students enjoyed the casino area provided in Hunt East, with its Black Jack, Craps and Roulette tables. Signature Ball has been a tradition of Mary Baldwin College for several years now. This formal event is always exciting to look forward to after our winter break.

Mr. Potato Head made an appearance at Signature Ball this year. Lizzie Voglebach and Katie Koontz taught him a few dance steps.

I thought the decorations were really nice this year. The best they have been in my four years here. The band played a lot of good songs and created a fun atmosphere.

Elizabeth Holland

Decorations were good. The Baldwin Program Board did an excellent job. They definitely turned the dining hall into a night of movie magic.

Kelly Reese

I had tons of fun this year. I had a great time and I look forward to three more.

Meghan Ward

It was an enchanting evening with lots of memorable experiences.

Erika Giraldo

Posing for a picture before leaving for the ball these sophomores pose with their dates. Katie Macola, Crissy Jurach, and Sam Muncy all appear to be having a good time.

Ashley Faust and her date were interrupted from their dancing for a quick smile.

Anne Pontius and KC Nelson are dressed and ready to go. You know these two girls will have a great time at Signature Ball.

"After this picture you better get ready Norah!" Norah Fick and Ann Marie Abbott take a time out from Sig Ball prep.

SOULS members protesting at Longwood College to help them get sexual orentation added to their non-discrimination clause.

S.O.U.L.S. helps to educate Mary Baldwin but also lends a helping hand to many other local colleges and high schools as it was doing here for Longwood College.

In April of 2000 S.O.U.L.S. was brought international as they were one of the millions in the crowd and marches at the Millenium March on Washington. Here S.O.U.L.S. friends are seen outside Chairwoman Courtney Leard's house before heading off for an incredible day!

S.O.U.L.S. CARES

Sisters Out Understanding Loving Sisters

The Main stage at the Millenium march on Washington. A memorable day for TONS of Mary Baldwin women! People such as the president himself, Bill Clinton, was on hand!

Established in 1992 S.O.U.L.S. is a discussion and activist group for the Mary Baldwin community. The main mission of S.O.U.L.S. is to educate women!

What are we educating them about? That is quite a question. Each week the group meets and discusses some issue facing women today, here at MBC and throughout the world. Things like body image, sexual assault, sexual minorities and equality among all people are just some of the topics discussed.

S.O.U.L.S. also strives to educate the campus about all the issues that affect us as women. Some of the large events they have sponsored or celebrate are Love Your Body Day in September, National Coming Out Day in October, World Aids Day, A Celebration of Sisterhood, National Day of Silence, Freedom to Marry Day, Women's History Month...

S.O.U.L.S. is an organization open to everyone. Students know that weekly meetings are a safe place to talk and ask any questions that they may have. Any Mary Baldwin student that believe in a more equal future for everyone can be a S.O.U.L.S. member.

These are chalkings from a S.O.U.L.S. pride day! Both signify big parts of what the group does; try to unify women and empower them to be proud of who they are.

Campus Life

Our Days Well Spent

Our campus at Mary Baldwin College is one based on community. Dr. Tyson's famous last words are "We play hard and we work hard". From the beginning of the year though may term, much has happened here. Whether in our rooms, at events, or outside girls are always seen with smiles and laughing with friends. Our Baldwin Program Board provides us with on campus activities. The BPB plans many mixers, comedy events, movies and special activities. Students now have the Nuthouse, a coffee shop, with a relaxing environment for studying or meeting with friends. We have traditional events such as Apple Day, Christmas Cheer, Signature Ball and Fest O' Fools. Some choose to spend every weekend here while others make an effort to take road trips.

On Charter day 2000, Honor Council Chairwoman Mel Townsend explains to the newly arrived freshman the importance of signing the MBC honor and judicial codes.

Junior Niani Vines should be used to having her picture taken- she's involved all over campus: Anointed voices of praise, Senate, Parliamentarian, and the list goes on and on and on.

"Baby Bye Bye Bye!" Seniors Jenny, Casey Crofton, Anne Schaech, and Norah Fick pause for a quick shot during the hustle of an N'Sync concert.

Julie Schmidt, Sam Muncie, Katie Macola, and Meghan O'Reilly know that even when the boys are there, "Girls just wanna have fun!"

At Signature Ball 2001, Ashley Faust and Jessica Massie danced the night away, but didn't forget to have their beautiful smiles caught on film.

Blake Hite suffers the wrath of an impatient Candice Cook as she counts down the hours to her birthday.

Velma! Velma! Velma! Where are you?!?!

SGA President Erin Kelley gets her shake on to the grooves of Roger Day.

Sarah Ashton, Lisa Bliss and Sarah Small show their good spirts to the camera at a VWIL event.

Where DO We Go...

Four wonderful years full of friends, professors, and memories...what lays ahead?

After graduation what do you do? After four years of classes, friends, parties, professors, and papers change is expected and guaranteed. After graduation, some go to graduate school, law school, medical school, and the rest go off to into the vast unknown. Getting a job and supporting yourself on your own is something that many students do not have to do while getting an undergraduate degree. After graduating, however, this is something that people are forced to do. Now seniors are moving on to new adventures and friends; years later however, they will look back to this book and to their past. Congratulations seniors!!!

Off to NSYNC, another concert adventure in the make. Nora Fick's Jeep Cherokee can hold a group of NSYNC fans.

A night of laughs and music, these girls are preparing for a night of fun during the air band preformance.

"Oh, God...what am I in for?" Erin Kelly asks herself this question before her EC roast.

Menden Poole and Becky Gross chill with Sarah Small before graduation comes, only a few weeks left.

Graduation 2001

Senior year was then....Graduation is Now

Tears are shed, smiles are broad, Graduation is here! Whether you have been at Mary Baldwin for four years or only one, when you graduate, what lies ahead is not fully known. You are heading into the road untravelled. Maybe you are going to be in the Military, Teaching, going to Graduate school, or just taking a break....You have completed your life at Mary Baldwin. This year's graduation weekend started with the Change of Command Ceremony for the VWIL graduates, with many hugs, tears, smiles and covers thrown in the air. The weekend continued into Commencement Ball where gowns were admired, families mingled and the girls danced the night away. Then the final morning arrived. While nerves are supposed to be running through your body, most girls gave the impression of "lets get this thing started"! Due to weather the ceremony was moved to the PAC under a tent, but when those girls walked under that awning to start their graduation ceremony, all that could be seen were grand smiles, pride, and yes, some more tears. Congratulations Class of 2001!!!

Below: President Tyson and SG President Erin Kelly stride their wa to the graduation ceremony bo showing happiness at what is to com

Above: Senior Rian McMullen has waited a long time for this day. Looks like shes happy that it's finally here. Congrats Rian!

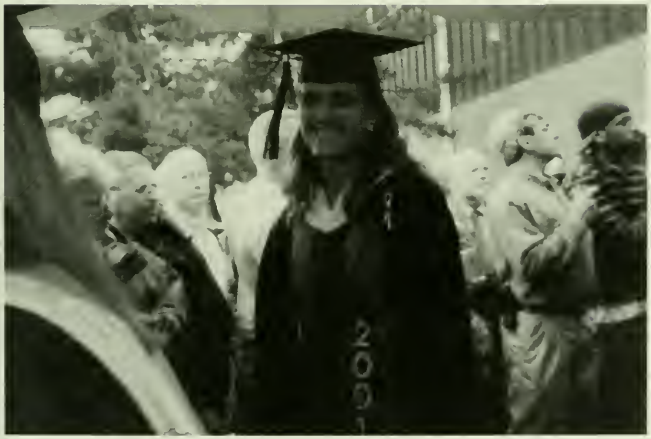
Below: Beautiful even on a rainy day, Erin Knocke graduates with honors. Erin was a valuable soccer player and cadet in VWIL for four years.

Above: Beth Plewes is all smiles and green sash. Beth was a valuable member of the Mary Baldwin community.



Left: Christina Murray is looking forward to starting her life at Andrews Air Force Base as a 2nd Lieutenant Air Force.

Soon to Come

Entering our Junior year, we got that anticipation of almos being a senior. We are patiently biding our time til we are o the top. Junior Dad's is the highlight of our year, when w are all presented with our rings by that special par-en relative, or friend. Majors have been chosen and classe are getting tougher. Even though we still have that big yea left, we take plenty of trips down memory lane, remembe the Then and pondering the Now. This year's Junior clas shines through in all we do. We are strong women whethe its in the Class System, VWIL, PEG, ADP, Senate, Orier tation, EC, RA's, Sports, or the many other positions o campus, we've done it all, and we've done it with courag and strength. There is no Glass Ceiling for the Class o 2002; get ready because here we come!!!

Look At Us Now...

Sophomores and Absolute Unity

Sophomores have been very involved this ye with Apple Day, fundraisers and partying! Life as sophomore involves not being the small "woman" campus any more. We have stepped up in the wor and have two more years to go. At the end of yo sophomore year you are found ordering you cla ring which is to be recieved a year later. This is wh you realize that your time is flying by as well. Soph more year also notes the year of many of us turing 2 we have left our "teen" years behind. Much more come with our two years left at Mary Baldwin Co lege.

Here We Come

A year full of firsts, seconds, and thirds.

Everyone knows that freshman year is a hard year full of new experiences and adventures. As freshman, students are expected to come into a new life style with full knowledge of what is expected and how to act and preform. This never happens. The first week of classes freshman students can be spotted with a look of confusion appearing on their faces. Freshman attend a week of orientation before class starts to help the transition into college be easier and less confusing but despite the help, there is still a large amount of confusion that is not eased by orientation leaders. Freshman somehow end up making it, and have fun at the same time.

Megan Word and Erika Giraldo take a break from dinner to pose for a picture. Pictures are an easy was for friends to remember their nights of fun.

Leaders of Pac

Exective Committee

The 2000 - 2001 SGA Exective Committee had a positive mindset as they began thier team together. They wanted to "Gieve'Em Something To Talk About"! Within theit mission statement they vowed to encourage student involvement throught active participation and upbeat positive attitude. They even tried to bring the faculty and staff back into the community we live in outside of the classroom and offices through Challenge 2000. To them, their year together serving the SGA was tremendously successful and fun! And they hope YOU had just as much fun as they did!

LEADERSHIP SENATE

Senate is the students way of staying informed. This years 2000-2001 Senate President was served by Sarah Small, Class of 2002. Sarah has lead a magnicificent group of women. She worked hard to maintain and make sure senate meetings ran smoothly. Senate meets weekly on Tuesday's during Convocation hour and all, including faculty, staff, administration and most importantly students are invited to sit in the gallery. Senators had very good hall concerns and kept on top of things this year. The Co-Chairs, as always worked to keep the Senators and their halls posted on Campus Life. Senate is a great way to keep your halls informed. Together, the students are the leaders of this campus. We look forward to our 2001-2002 Senate Meetings with Sarah Small as our Senate President, as she has done a wonderful job.

On Our Honor

2000-2001 Honor Council

Serving for the 2000-2001 Honor Council Chair Woman was Meredith Townsend. She and her board worked very hard this year to raise spirts of MBC. The Honor Council is an important part of our MBC Community. We take pride in our Honor Code. The board consists of about 12 women and each serves as an Honor Council Hall Representative. Hall Reps, make sure each is kept up to date on exam precedures and other business. This year the Honor Council held an Ice Cream Social for an exam break. They also raised our spirts and wished us luck on our exams with their numerous yard signs posted all over campus. Thanks for a great year!

Bright Smiles

Good Times Good Friends Good Memories

The BPB gives everyone something to smile about. Thanks for the fun, laughter, and time with friends!!!

No matter what the discussion was every EC member had a smile. Shaffone Boyle , Yogi Almendras, Merit Townsend, and Erin Kelly, thanks for the smiles.

Always something to smile about in Senate. Yogi Almendras , Sarah Small, and Niani Vines always kept the atmosphere light while conducting business.

BPB

Let The Good Times Roll

The Baldwin Program Board is an organization that strives for student involvement. These ladies work hard to bring exciting entertainment to Mary Baldwin College. The Chair Woman for the 2000-2001 school year was served by Shaffone Boyle, who has done a great job now for the past two years.

This year the BPB held many mixers that are always known as "lively". Also, they have held many movies in Francis Auditoriam. And for a way to kick back and relax, the BPB invited a masuce to ease the tensions and stress from our MBC students. Great Job BPB!

RHA Rocks

A glance into the Rockin' World of the MBC Resident Hall Association

This year, the Resident Hall Association of Mary Baldwin College rocked the campus. The 26 members could be found doing and hosting various activities and hall-builders in every resident hall. Each resident hall president is responsible for creating two hall programs a semester to bring her residents together. The hall programs allow students an opportunity to meet their neighbors and something to occupy their time. The RHA also hosts various activities around campus. This organization is responsible for the Mardi Gras dinner, Haunted House, RHA week, and quite a few other fun activities. If you think RHA rocked MBC this year, wait and see what 2001-2002 RHA will do!!!

Above: RHA members pause and give smiles during move in day. Along with many other committees, RHA volunteered for shifts to help the new students move in. VWIL

In the hot month of August, VWIL welcomed the Class of 2004, the nULL class for the 2000-2001 year. With many hardships and challenges they plowed through tough times during cadre week, wilderness and their academic classes. The Class of 2004 were inducted into the Corps on August 27, 2000, at the Induction Parade. While the nULL class comes together, the Class of 2003 faces the task of keeping the nULLS on their toes. During the school year, the Class of 2002 recieved their rings at Junior Dad's on November 18, 2000. On February 24, 2001, the nULLs earned their Rites of Passage. Their Calics, the senior class, busy advising the nULLs as calics and working on their senior thesis, still had time to host a successful Military Ball weekend and Inaugural Parade.

Orientation

Leaders and Role Models for the incoming students of Mary Baldwin College

The Orientation program is responsible for welcoming new students to the MBC community. A five-member board and 25 member staff make up the orientation leadership. Orientation leaders are possitive, welcoming girls who work diligently to help students make the transition to college. Orientation Staff is completely voluntary through students who have a true desire to improve the experience of new students. Many orientation leaders serve as upper-class contacts during the Fall semester and work closely with new students throughout their college career. Orientation leaders spend considerable time before, during, and after orientation week planning events and serving the needs of incoming students. The staff for 2001 had a blast and many girls will continue with the 2002 staff. Orientation is a great way to make the first experience the best.

PEG

Program for the Exceptionally Gifted

The Program for the Exceptionally Gifted began in 1985 with a grant from the Jessie Ball duPont Educational, Religious, and Charitable Foundation. Since then, Peg has provided young women with the unique opportunity to bypass high school and attend college up to four years early. PEG students live under the supervision of PEG staff members during their initial year at MBC. After completing her "transitional" year, a PEG student becomes a PEG-at-large, and she may live with traditional Mary Baldwin students in any of the housing on campus. Most PEG students complete their undergraduate education at Mary Baldwin in four years, and many go on to graduate school immediately or soon after graduation

Editors, Advisors, and much more....

Yearbook

Working on a yearbook staff is hard work. It can be a lot of fun, but it requires dedication. This year the three editors that took the yearbook upon their shoulders did so with the intent that nobody was going to keep us from having a yearbook. Until November of 2000, there was no yearbook for the 2000-2001 school year. With a lot of late night hours, cutting and pasting, and priceless help, the yearbook was completed. Katie Macola, Julie Schmidt, and Lisa Bliss took on the responsibilty of this year's yearbook. They went through Senate Appropriations for money, they worked hard, and they succeded!!! This year's yearbook is the starting line for bringing the yearbook back to the standing that it once had. We hope that you all have enjoyed the pictures and information provided in this yearbook. Look out for more in 2001-2002!!!

Julie Schmidt takes a break from the tedious work that has to be completed in order to have a finished yearbook.

Lisa Bliss is all smiles. Among her many activities and busy schedule she still found time to work on the yearbook.

Editor, Sophomore Katie Macola dedicated prior yearbook knowledge along with serving as a class officer, senate co-chair, and various other committees.

Yearbook Advisor, former yearbook editor and MBC Alumnae Lynn Gilliland was priceless for this edition of the Bluestocking. Lynn gave much time to this us this year. Thanks Lynn!!!!

Sports

A year of changes

Mary Baldwin sports have come a long way in the past few years. Although the 2000-2001 sports teams seemed to be ridden with injuries galore, the girls stayed on top. Last year swimming achieved the AWCC Champs spot. This year, that spot belonged to the basketball and field hockey teams. Through hard work, long practices, and grueling games....these Squirrel girls knew how to beat the best...to become the best. This year celebrated the arrival of our first ever varsity softball team, and with it a new field. We also endured the loss of one trainer and the gain of another. Anne Bauer is the reason we survived our injuries and why we enjoyed rehab so much. The annual sports banquet was a success with the celebration of player achievements in sports and academics. Our coaches keep challenging us to be the best...look out for more success' in the 2001-2002 year!!!

Field Hockey

National ranking Then, Conference champs Now

Above: Members of the Field Hockey team warm up together by taking a few laps before the game. Such simple things are what brings a team together....to play and win together.

The 2000 Field Hockey squad ran through the second half of the season with a 7-3 record, culminating in capturing it's first ever AWCC championship. MBC was tops in the AWCC in team defense and scoring, allowing only 21 goals over 20 games. Goalkeeper Linda Cortez led the conference with 154 saves and 20 goals allowed. Kelly Kersmarki chipped in with 5 defensive saves, Jess Durbin with 5 goals, Anne Pontius with 7 goals and 3 assists and Kristin Falat with 6 goals and 2 assits. Brenna Zortman, Kristin Falat, and Amanda Witherow were named to the VA Women's All Tournament team, and AWCC All Conference went to seniors Amanda Witherow and Laura Taylor, and junior Linda Cortez. After earning it's first NFHCA national ranking in '99 and the AWCC champs in '00 field hockey's future looks bright for the continued growth of the program.

Softball

A New Beginning

It's taken a lot of years, and a lot of effort. But the interest was always there. This year, 2001, marked the beginning of Varsity Softball at Mary Baldwin College. Softball is a sport that brings a lot of girls to schools, and we hope that it will do the same for us. With a new coach, Chip Abernathy, and two great assistant coaches, Dez Stockdale and Christy Shelton, the team forged through a tough season. The season started off like it should. The first pitch or rather two pitches were thrown by President Tyson marking the new field. Gathering comments from every team that visited, the field presents a spectacular sight. The girls weathered the bitter cold to practice everyday and traveled often four times a week. The season was successful in that they had a team, they played hard, stuck together, and look forward to next year and more fun to come.

Above: Elizabeth Holland, Amanda Williams, and Abbie Foley were the senior squad on the swin team this year. All excellent and dedicated swimmers.

Basketball

Breaking out to be on top...NOW

The women's basketball team had a great season. We finished first place during the regular season of the AWCC and won the conference championship. With an 11-1 record in the conference and a 17-9 overall stading, we were untouchable! We had a stellar season ending with a ten game winning streak.

Three seniors led our team. Nina Mouzone, who was our best offensive player, led the team in scoring and scored over 1000 career points this season. Kara Hughes was our best defensive player as she led the team in steals. Catherine Saunders was our best inside player leading the team in rebounding.

We have a wealth of talent returning next year and anticipate a great season. We expect to be in the running for another AWCC Championship.

Celebrating JIM LOTT

On June 30, 2001, James D. Lott retired from Mary Baldwin College after 37 years of distinguished service as Professor of English and Dean of the College. Many of us find it difficult to imagine the college without him.

Jennifer Brillhart-Kibler spoke to the new freshmen class preparing them for the coming year got them excited and told them to hold onto the friends and memories that they would soon gain.

The 2000-2001 Resident Advisors are introduced to the freshmen at convocation. Many of the freshmen met these wonderful ladies as they were moving into their dorms.

Monica Choi looks on as the new freshmen class signs the honor pledge committing themselves to upholding the values Mary Baldwin College possesses.

Cokie Roberts came to Mary Baldwin College in the spring this year to lecture to students. She enlightened the students by telling stories concerning women in leadership positions.

Another theatrical program coming soon? In order to get a show perfect, tedious hours are required working on such things as speech, body language, and stage presence.

In celebration of Founder's Day the Mary Baldwin choir sang at the First Presbyterian church for many of the families that got together in honor of the weekend.

What a game. Fans and Gladis showed up to support Mary Baldwin College sports teams.
